South Bay holds the line on tax increases, gives employees 2% pay raise

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Despite a decrease in property tax revenue this year, South Bay Commissioners have voted to hold the line on tax increases in the city.

Commissioners set their millage rate at 9.0848 this week, the same rate residents paid last year. Some citizens may see their tax bill go down, though, because their homes have been appraised at less.

"The commission was very determined to offer the same level of service to its citizens this year without raising taxes," said Mayor Clarence Anthony.

Mr. Anthony said the city has been aggressive this past year in seeking and acquiring state and county grants, which has helped their money situation.

"We've already realized some revenue ton in permit fees for the new R.V. park," said the mayor.

The $2.8 million budget does include a two percent raise for city employees and an additional two percent performance bonus for some employees.

The city also expects additional revenue from the special census, amounting to approximately $32,500 and the county's six percent gas tax should bring the city an additional $26,250 in revenue, according to the mayor.

Victim of drive-by shooting released from Pahokee hospital

By David Ranieri
Staff writer

A 14-year-old boy was discharged Wednesday morning from Everglades Medical Center after being shot in a drive-by shooting over the weekend.

Jammie Little of Pahokee was shot once in the leg from a .380 caliber semi-automatic pistol fired from a car driving by the area.

Little was standing outside a former game room at 419 S.

Lake Avenue around 11:42 p.m. Saturday, police said.

Two 17 year-olds from Belle Glade were arrested and charged with aggravated battery with a firearm.

The gun had been reported stolen from Georgia in 1990.

Lt. Danny Jones of Pahokee Police Department said an investigation was continuing and further charges may be filed.

Big Water Festival in Canal Point is planned for next weekend

Members of Canal Point Renewal, Inc. (CPR) are busy planning the Big Water Festival to take place Saturday, September 4 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Canal Point Marina.

Anita Brunson, Co-chairperson said "Our goal has been for the festival to be a community event sponsored by CPR rather than a CPR event. We have had a tremendous response from the community this year. This year, our churches, school, fire department and other local talents are all taking an active part...a truly Canal Point event."

The festival will include author Ann O'Connell Rust, a free hay ride, barbecue chicken or rib dinners, a moon walk, snacks of all kinds, a dunking booth, live bands and singers, the Florida Flywheelers and lots of arts and crafts.

Co-chairperson Claudio Caramma said "We look forward to the folks of the Glades joining us for a day of fun and some good old Canal Point hospitality."

For more information on the festival, call Mrs. Brunson at 934-2061 or Mr. Caramma at 934-3305.

Flyer circulating is not correct says union vice president

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

None of the information in a flyer circulating throughout the City of Belle Glade is correct, says the Vice President of the local Firefighters of Palm Beach County.

The flyer, which says several commission candidates have been endorsed by the union, also lists demands the union is making in negotiations with the city.

Vince Taylor, firefighter for the city and vice president of the local Firefighters of Palm Beach County union, said five of the seven items on the flyer are not true and two are an issue, but not part of the current contract negotiations.

John Cook, president of the Police Department union, could not be reached for comment before press time.

The items in the flyer include:

• Want taxpayers to pay for time spent on the telephone if called off duty.

Again, not true, according to Taylor.

• Want taxpayers to provide private telephone line for private phone call use.

No, says Taylor.

• Want to be allowed to live in neighboring counties.

This is an issue, according to Mr. Taylor, but this is not part of the current contract negotiations.

• Want taxpayers to pay, in addition to yearly salary raises, increases for assignment and longevity.

Taylor said this is an issue the union is concerned about, but again, this is not part of the current contract negotiations.

• Want no outside training done if the outside temperature is in excess of 89 degrees.

Not so, said Taylor.

Mr. Taylor said apparently someone got access to this information which was part of the old contract negotiations.

The flyer also says several of the commission candidates in the upcoming September 14 city election have been endorsed by the union.

"We have invited all the candidates to our meeting tomorrow," said Taylor.

• Want taxpayers to pay for row night," said Mr. Taylor, "and we will be screening them, but we have not endorsed any candidates yet."

Director of Public Safety Michael Miller issued this statement about the subject:

The police officers and firefighters of the City of Belle Glade are dedicated professionals who do a difficult job under difficult circumstances. While I value and respect their opinions, some of their positions and demands are economically and tactically not feasible.

"I do not believe it is proper to discuss any specifics with reference to ongoing negotiations.

"The administration, staff and members of the Belle Glade Police and Fire Departments remain committed to providing the best possible public safety services to our citizens."

Candidates running for three seats open in the September 14 election include Clay Connell, running against incumbent Bill Bailey, Tammy Gilbert, running for the seat currently held by Steve Weeks, and Johnny Johnson, who is running for the seat held by Crate "Happy" Tucker.

The good old boys of Company E...This photo, taken in 1962, shows many local men who are still living in the Glades. They were members of the National Guard Infantry Division in Belle Glade. Can you find John Hooker, Richard Tullis, Jack Rashley, Dennis Sims, Warren Howell, Gene Brooks, Herbert (Sug) Anderson, or do you recognize Butterball Rigdon, (now deceased) Junior Stacey, Merton Rashley, or Jack Crow-martin? August has been named Florida National Guardsman Month in Belle Glade. For more on this story, see page 4.

$40,000 smiles... Money confiscated from local drug traffickers was given to the Belle Glade Police Department for equipment and manpower to help fight crime in the city. Shown, from left, are Lt. Richard Browning, Captain Michael Mills with the S.O., Mayor Bill Bailey, City Manager Lomax Harrelle, Belle Glade's Chief Michael Miller and Inspector of Police Louis Lowrey.

Congressman Hastings tours ERMC

"Rural hospitals like Everglades deserve support and the opportunity to continue to serve their small, rural communities," said U.S. Congressman Alcee L. Hastings as he toured Everglades Regional Medical Center.

Congressman Hastings, whose 23rd Congressional District includes a large portion of the South Lake Okeechobee region, pledged his support for rural hospital operations noting that these hospitals offer vital health services locally for thousands of Florida's residents.

"Due to my Congressional committee assignments, I am often focused on foreign affairs, but I assure you I am dedicated to the rural areas of my district and especially their health care needs," said Congressman Hastings. The Miami Democrat pledged his efforts to protecting rural health care from expected federal budget cuts noting the hospitals will have an important role in health care reform.

Hastings praised the staff of the Pahokee hospital as he walked the halls stopping to visit with obstetrics, physicians and nurses in the hospital where more births occur per capita per licensed bed than any other in Florida, regardless of size.

ERMC administration and members of the Northwestern Palm Beach County Health Care District hosted the visit which included a luncheon and a question and answer session with the Congressman with doctors and administrators.

Hastings said he believes it is important for all Floridians to understand and appreciate the contributions to the state's health care made by rural hospitals. He congratulated the obstetrics and neonatology department on a "remarkable record of accomplishment" in infant mortality when compared with state and national statistics.

Congressman Hastings was elected to Congress in 1992 and has spent virtually all his time when Congress is not in session touring his sprawling South Florida district which stretches from central Dade County to Ft. Pierce.

City gets $40,000 of confiscated drug money to help fight crime

"The bad guys know they can't run from community to community anymore," says Belle Glade's Police Chief Michael Miller, referring to the cooperative efforts of the Glades Multi-Agency Narcotic Task Force.

Made up of officers from the Belle Glade, Pahokee, and South Bay police forces, as well as officers from the Palm Beach County Sub Station of the Sheriff's Office, the agency has been successful in seizing $163,000 in drug money in the first three months of 1993.

The City of Belle Glade Police Department was given $40,000 of the money on Monday to use to help the department continue to fight crime. The task force was conceived in 1986 to combat the drug traffickers that frequently operate within multiple police jurisdictions in the western Palm Beach County area, according to Captain Michael Mills with the Sheriff's Office, who said this was the largest check awarded since the force has been in existence.

The Glades Multi-Agency Narcotic Task Force is an idea that has worked, and worked very well," said Chief Miller. "You're always hearing about organized crime...well, this is organized law enforcement." He added the money would be used by the department for equipment and manpower.

Hurricane checklist

What to do when a hurricane blows into town

The hurricane season is from June through November. Now is a good time to prepare a Hurricane box with supplies of flashlights, matches, candles, non-perishable food items, bottled water, batteries, paper goods, etc. Hurricane items are in short supply with an approaching storm and the checkout lines at the supermarket are almost devastating as the hurricane. So, BE PREPARED!

KNOW THESE WEATHER WORDS:

Hurricane Watch/Warning: Hurricane expected to strike within 24 hours.

Tropical Depression: A cyclone with winds of less than 39 mph or 34 knots.

Tropical Storm: A cyclone with winds from 39 to 73 mph or 34 to 63 knots.

Hurricane: A violent cyclone with winds greater than 74 mph or 64 knots.

BEFORE THE STORM:

1. Protect your windows and glass doors with boards, shutters or tape.
2. Make sure you have several days' supply of water and non-perishable foods.
3. Disinfect your bathtub and fill with water.
4. Don't wait till the last minute to stock up on

DURING THE STORM:

1. Stay indoors during the hurricane.
2. Listen for weather service hurricane bulletins.
3. Be careful with burning candles.
4. Don't be fooled by the calm that comes with the "eye of the storm." The storm isn't over, only resting to pick up speed!

AFTER THE STORM:

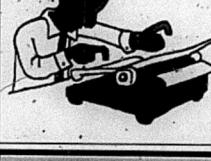

1. Stay out of heavily damaged or flooded areas.
2. Avoid loose or dangling wires.
3. Check refrigerated foods for spoilage if power has been off during the storm.
4. If there is a threat of hurricane-spawned tornadoes, take shelter inside, in small interior areas like hallways, closets and bathrooms.

Local National Guard needs a few good men...and women

Belle Glade's Mayor Bill Bailey declared August as "Florida National Guardsman Month" in the City of Belle Glade and gave special recognition and appreciation to the local Florida National Guard Unit, Company B (P), 1-124th Infantry Division and its members.

The proclamation said the honor was given "for their dedication through quality service to this community and the safety of its citizens."

In the front page photograph of the National Guard Unit in 1982, most of the men were just out of the Army, some were WWII or Korean veterans and a few were just kids fresh out of high school wanting to serve their country, according to PFG Mike Marr, who now serves with Company B (P) 1-124th Infantry.

They all had one thing in common in 1952," said Mr. Marr, "they were a member of Company E-211th Infantry Belle Glade."

Company E was the first federally recognized Florida Army National Guard unit in the lake area. The armory, now located on South Main Street, has not been thought of yet.

The unit drilled in the building now occupied by Paul's Auto Parts, next to the old post office.

"Many things in the Florida National Guard have changed since the 1950's," said Mr. Marr. "The equipment has become more sophisticated and complex. The training has become more intense and parallels the training of our full time Army forces."

The mission of the National Guard has become a dual mission on both the state and federal levels, he said. The National Guard has truly become an important part of our total military force. With reduction of full time military personnel and bases, the National Guard faces new and challenging demands.

Mr. Marr said the local Guard participated in helping the victims of Hurricane Andrew and are here to help with local disasters, should they occur.

The Florida National Guard is looking to recruit good men and women, and Mr. Marr said the local post is greatly in need of new recruits.

The standards are much tougher now than they were in the 50's," said Mr. Marr, "but if you can meet them, you can earn many benefits while serving the country and your community."

"The extra income is great," he added, "from $2,500 to $5,000 a year, depending on your rank. As a member of the National Guard you are entitled to educational benefits, student loans, life insurance, travel, and even retirement benefits. The job opportunities are almost limitless," he said.

For more information on the local Florida National Guard, call Mr. Marr or SSG Dean Terrell at 992-1325. They are located at 1185 South Main Street.

Professor invents translating machine

GAINESVILLE--A University of Florida engineering professor, has invented the only machine in the world to automatically translate Chinese to idiomatic English. A feat once considered almost impossible.

The difficulty arises because of the vast differences in the Chinese writing system and the English alphabet, as well as the large cultural gap between the two societies, said Julius Tou, graduate research professor emeritus of electrical engineering and computer and information sciences.

With more than 50,000 characters and many irregular grammatical rules, Chinese is one of the most complex natural languages in the world. The Chinese writing system has no alphabet because it was developed before the invention of the alphabets. Therefore, words are not represented by combinations of letters, but by combinations of characters, Tou said.

"In Chinese, words can be created with one character, two characters or whatever," he said. "One word can be spelled with one character or five characters, depending on the context. There are no fixed rules for this."

In addition, Tou said, Chinese sentences are strung together with no spaces between words. For example, a Chinese sentence would look like this: HEREADDERABBY, which could be read HERE ADD EAR ABBY, while the correct reading is HE READ DEAR ABBY.

"If you teach people to read

Chinese, they need to learn to find word sequences in Chinese character strings and from there translates it to English, completing both tasks almost instantaneously."

In addition, Tou designed an input system that lets users type on a standard computer keyboard to create Chinese characters on the screen for translation.

Tou's work has been produced, by CITAC Computers Inc., which has sold some units to companies in Taiwan. Full-scale production should begin in one or two years, once the last few bugs have been ironed out, Tou said. His invention, a breakthrough in information science and technology, has been awarded a U.S. patent, and outstrips efforts by the Japanese to develop similar translation technology.

Because the computer translates ordinary Chinese writing for daily use in communication into idiomatic English, Tou said, it has many applications in defense, diplomacy, intelligence, science and in business, working in China.

"It's the difficulty involved in learning Chinese that makes the translation machine necessary," Tou said. "We tested it's translation capacity against an American who lived in China for four years and the machine beat him, in terms of accuracy, as well as speed."

Guest commentary

By Congressman Tom Lewis

Lewis moves forward in efforts to deport criminal aliens

Congressman Tom Lewis has announced a major step forward in his effort to speed the deportation of criminal aliens.

After months of consultation, Republican lawmakers included Lewis' Criminal Alien Deportation and Exclusion Amendments in the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1993, introduced today in the House of Representatives.

"I'm glad my colleagues recognize the scope of the criminal aliens problem, and are equally committed to correcting it," said Lewis, a member of the Republican Task Force on Illegal Immigration and on Crime. "Taxpayers spend more than eight hundred million dollars annually to hold over fifty-thousand criminal aliens in our state and federal prison facilities, while we return other violent criminals to our streets. This makes no sense, especially for states like Florida suffering from such severe prison over-crowding."

Currently, aliens convicted of crimes cannot be deported until after they have completed their sentences. According to Lewis, "We feed them, house them, clothe them and then deport them. Let's deport them first, save money, and use the prison space."

The Congressman's legislation empowers the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service to begin deportation hearings immediately following an alien's criminal conviction, and then deport an alien directly from prison.

Introduced over a year ago, the legislation attracted the bipartisan support of over fifty members of the House of Representatives, law-enforcement periodicals, local newspapers, and the National Taxpayers Union.

As a whole, the Republican crime package channels necessary resources to the local level to get hardened and violent criminals off the streets. An original cosponsor of the package, Lewis praised its "bottom-up review of the criminal justice system, aimed at protecting all citizens and making hardened, violent criminals serve long prison terms."

Editors note: The POLICE NEWS in this newspaper lists arrests, not convictions, unless otherwise stated. Arrested persons who later are found not guilty or have had the charges against them dropped are welcome to let us know. We will confirm the information and print it.

Lees capture Palm Beach County Father and Son Golf Championship

Willie and Jesse Lee continued their domination of the Palm Beach County Father and Son Championship by winning Sunday, August 15 for the third time in the six-year history of the tournament.

A scrambles score of six under par 66 the second round on the Legends course at the Lees' Country Club gave the Lees a two-day total of 135. They opened Saturday with a better-half score of three under par 69 on the adjacent Heritage course.

The Lee's first victory was in 1989 at Atlantis Country Club. They repeated last year at Palm Beach Polo and Country Club. Furthermore, they have been scored the three times they didn't win, in the 1988 inaugural and in 1990-1991.

Willie Lee, soon to be 55, is a crop duster in Belle Glade. Jesse, 29, of Wellington, is a produce broker.

Command of the par-5 holes proved decisive. Jesse birdied three of the four Saturdays. On Sunday, they had an eagle and two birdies on the long holes.

"You're supposed to make birdies on the par-5s," said Willie. "We got off to a sluggish start yesterday and this was our highest winning scores. But these are tough courses and the wind blew some, too.

They had only one bogey in 36 holes, at the par-4 fifth hole the opening round and the other birdies.

William and Peter Martin of Hobe Sound and Palm Beach Gardens, respectively, were second with 138 on a pair of 69s. Tied with the Lees after Saturday's round, they remained even through three holes Sunday, or until Jesse Lee hit a 5-wood to the green and sank a 10-foot putt for an eagle at the fourth hole.

"They got us going," Willie said. "We were never stayed behind after that."

Crusaders

What's taller, tanner and great to see? The Crusaders back from a summer vacation! The halls were buzzing last Thursday night for orientation. Students met their 1993-1994 teachers, saw friends they had missed over the summer and even saw some new faces! Older students were anxious to get their new schedules. To kick off orientation, our principle Andy Wright and all parents, students and faculty met in the auditorium as Mr. Wright emphasized that we will commit ourselves to academic excellence. Our new motto as Crusader's is "committed to excellence!"

The newly-elected board members on the Education committee are Mr. Mike Cunningham, Mr. Mike Shiver and Perry Yance. We welcome these three men as they join our other board members, Mr. Craig Pate-chairman, Mrs. Joyce Chamblee-vice-chairman and Mrs. Francis Nelms. They have already been busy over the summer making plans for Christian Day School's 24th year. We know they will do an excellent job and we appreciate their dedication!

Congratulations to Paul and Cecilia Thompson on the arrival of their new baby boy, Daniel Kyle. Paul is youth minister at First Baptist Church.

Way to go Mrs. Liz Duff. She is returning for her 22nd consecutive year and has worked as both teacher and administrator in her years at C.D.S. Now that's what we call perseverance!

Football and volleyball schedules are available in the office. Come on up but we warn you, you might catch the Crusader spirit!

PBCC offers auto theft prevention device at cost

In response to the recent years' increases in auto thefts occurring in South Florida, Palm Beach Community College is now offering an automobile theft prevention device at cost to its students and employees. "The Club" has been nationally advertised and endorsed by police departments throughout the United States as one method of preventing the theft of automobiles.

"The Club" is a vinyl-covered, long steel rod that locks the steering wheel. Theft of the vehicle is prevented because the device prohibits movement of the steering wheel.

The device will be on sale at PBCC through December as a public service. "The Club" is available at any of the College's four bookstore locations for only $25.00, compare at the retail price of $39.95 charged by most retail stores.

Burroughs and his wife, Vada have six sons: Michael, Charles, Jerry, Roger - works for U.S. Sugar in Bryant, Gary - fire chief of Pahokee, and William - works for U.S. Sugar in Pelican Lakes.

Burroughs and his wife raised their family in Pahokee and considered this their home.

The Burroughs family have many friends that have helped them make it this far. The family appreciates and loves each and every one of them.

Award winners... children were awarded for their efforts in the Glades Youth Discovery Center's essay contest. The center provides transportation to and from the center and is funded by the Children's Service Council and the West County Mental Health Clinic.

Petty wins essay contest

Jonte Petty was recently named a winner of the Glades Youth Discovery Center essay contest. Jonte is a member of the center which provides social, cultural and recreational opportunities for all 12-18 year olds in the Western communities of Palm Beach County.

GYDC, which provides free membership and transportation to and from the center, is funded by the Children's Services Council of Palm Beach County and the West County Mental Health Clinic, Inc.

Two members - Napoleon Davis and Lorien Steele - were named second place winners and also tied for third place were members Andrew Lamy and Jacquette Sherrod.

All the essay writers were commended for their participation in the essay contest which was centered around the theme of freedom.
